NEWS OF LOCAL COURTS.

Judge Alford Releases Boy Who Stole from Necessity.

The old story of "blind justice" that generally pictures a judge sentencing a poor unfortunate to prison for stealing a loaf of bread, was reversed in the Criminal Court yesterday when Judge Alford released an eleven-year-old colored boy who stole a ham and pair of rubber boots. The boy was Gilbert Kimball, who lives with his widowed mother and four sisters and brother near Clermont. The mother washes for a living. Sometimes food is scarce about the Kimball home and one day last winter Mrs. Kimball sent Gilbert, her eldest son, to their neighbors to beg for something to eat. He went to the house of George Kincaid. No one was at home, but he found a number of hams hanging in the smokehouse. He was tempted and he took one. His shoes were worn out and he also appropriated a pair of rubber boots. Judge Alford allowed him to go under suspended sentence. The boy is industrious and had

After filling a short engagement in Berlin I wandered to Dresden, where I was heard by the then most famous German trage- them into schemes of discontent and misdienne, Marie Seebach. She engaged me to play with her at the Court Theater in St. Petersburg as her leading man. Directly afterwards Director Jauner, of the Court Theater in Vienna, arrived in Dresden and invited me to open his new Ring Theater in Vienna. After the refusal of the St. Petersburg management to release me he, through his influence as a court favorite, was enabled to effect my release through the embassy in Vienna. So I went to the Eldorado of German art and opened his theater for him with success in "The Rat Catcher of Hamelin,' which play I afterwards produced in this country under the management of Kiralfy brothers. My second appearance in Vienna was in a triple-character part in Offenbach's last opera, 'The Tales of Hoffmann.' Ten minutes before the performance, on the second night of the engagement, a fire started that consumed the whole place in a half hour, leaving only the bare walls. Six hundred lives were lost in that fire. I had just completed dressing for the first act of the performance when the fire broke out. Dismissed by Secretary Shaw.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25 .- Secretary Shaw to-day ordered the dismissal from the Treasury Department of Lorenzo G Warfield, a clerk in the division of book keeping and warrants. The attention of the department was called a few days ago to a circular said to have been issued by an organization of which Mr. Warfield was treasurer. The circular gave the plans of a proposed association by which stockholders could probably reap large returns from a scheme to play the races. One clause in the circular cited the fact that Mr. Warfield held an important position in the Treasury Department and gave this as an evidence of the respectability of the association. The dismissal was based on the use of the department's name in this connection.

National Capital Notes. WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.-Secretary

Shaw has returned to Washington and will remain here until toward the end of the week, when he will go to his Vermont home to meet President Roosevelt. Attorney General Knox left Washington to-day for New York and will sail from that city for France Wednesday on the steamship Oceanic.

Route of Traction Company.

The Indianapolis Northern Traction Company will put a large force of men at work between Broad Ripple and Carmel next week constructing the roadbed for the new road. Work has already been begun north of Noblesville. This announcement settles the route of the road, as there was a demand that it go to the east by way of Allisonville. The Indianapolis Northern take her to his home there. Miss Lothian ple this year, but will use some other means of crossing, probably one of the old bridges.
